Latest Quotations in the Portland Markets.

Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

PORTLAND, June 9.—Commission men on Front street express great satisfaction over the showing made in May's business. In nearly every instance the footings show the largest business for the month in several years. This increase is attributed to two principal causes—an extended trade southward on account of the San Francisco disaster throwing more trade into Portland from territory previously handled by the Bay City; and, secondly, the growth of population in Oregon and contiguous states.

For the week there was a continuation of the record made in May, and prices generally were well maintained.

Dairy Products.

The advance to 24c for city creamery butter became fairly well established for the product of one of the large creameries, though the advance was not followed generally. There was a very good demand for country goods from outside markets, and nearly all offerings were disposed of to those places, while less went into cold storage than the week before, according to the best information obtainable.

Eggs became much stronger toward the close of the week, and in some quarters the price was quoted up to 21¢ at 21¢. The ruling quotation, however, is 19½¢, most sales being made at top figure. The Alaska demand continues, and as that trade takes the highest class in almost every kind of products and staples, the coast feels the effect.
